We have a promotion on our Level 3 Intermediate Food Safety Distance Learning course this month. We have a link for information on Food Safety Week and for those of you in the food manufacturing sector we have a link to the draft copy of the BRC Global Standard for Food Safety which is available for consultation. May is going to be an exciting time for us as we are taking part in a television series for a major terrestrial channel which will highlight aspects of food safety in our industry, highlighting all the hard work going into ensuring the safety of food production. We will release more details later in the year.

Level 3 Intermediate Food Safety Distance Learning Course

This course provides the level of food safety training required by supervisors and managers in the food industry.

For the month of May only, the course material will be reduced to £160 (usually £190). This will prepare you for the RSPH Level 3 exam.

Click on Level 3 Intermediate Food Safety Course on the menu for the link to order your course.

Food Safety Week

Food Safety Week will be held from 6th to 12th June 2011. This year the theme is food safety when preparing and cooking food at home. Like ourselves you can register your interest to help promote this event via the Food Standards Agency website.

Click on Food Safety Week on the menu for details to register.

BRC Global Standard for Food Safety issue 6

The process for updating the BRC Global Standard for Food Safety is underway. It is due to be published in July of this year and planned to be effective from January 2012. The BRC would like your comments on their proposals for the new standard.

For a copy of the draft standard for consultation, click on BRC Standard issue 6 on the menu for a link to register and download the draft standard.

Food Law Guide

The Food Law Guide has now been updated, this includes all food legislation and links to guidelines.

Click on Food Law Guide on the menu for the link to the pdf.
